LAND VALUES
DEPRECIATINGSo Say Witnesses Before the Tax
Appeal Court—Three Cases
Heard Yesterday.

The tax court held another busy ses- sion yesterday afternoon, disposing of three cases. The court announced that no decisions would be given out until after all cases had been decided, in order that appellants could not govern their actions by the finding of the court in previous cases. A good many cases are being settled, and the ap- peals withdrawn, and for this reason it is not deemed wise to make public the cases which have been appealed, excepting as they are called.

Emily C. Judd had returned a valua- tion of $30,000 on thirty-four acres above the Desky tract in Punahou, which the assessor increased to $45,000. Mr. Swander, who appeared for ap- pellant, stated that he had made the same appeal last year and it had been re- fused. He said the land was steep and inaccessible, and had no water. He stated that the market value of the property was but $15,000, and that he could not get that; the land had been offered for sale, but there were no buyers at any figure. He thought the value of the land had depreciated since last year because of the scarcity of money. He said he knew of no one who would invest $15,000 in such prop- erty.

Assessment of Mrs. Lemmon on her King street property had been return- ed at $25,000 and increased to $35,000, and on her Waikiki house at $7,500 and increased to $10,000. Testimony was in- troduced to show that appellant had but a life interest in the property, and that the King street block was bring- ing in an income of $100 per month. Witnesses in this case also stated that land values were depreciating, and that extravagant prices had been paid by rich men who wished to satisfy a whim. The attorney for appellant made a hard fight for a reduction, and the case occupied the greater part of the afternoon. The Waikiki property was said to be unfit for habitation.

In the case of Julia K. Hunt the valuation on her property in Iwilei was raised from $3,200 to $14,300. She claimed that the property was not worth more than the figure returned, and cited instances of other land in that neighborhood which had been returned at a less figure.

The court adjourned until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

ORPHEUM ORDERED
SOLD AT AUCTIONThe Property to Be Closed Out on Foreclosure of Mortgage.

Judge Gear yesterday made an order for the sale of the Orpheum at public auction to satisfy a mortgage of $37,000 held by Charles S. Desky, and also a mortgage on the same property of $15,500 held by the Hawaiian Evangelical Association.

The property was sold to the Or- pheum Company, Limited, January 1, 1900, for $32,000, said company also agreeing to pay the mortgage of $15,500 held by the Hawaiian Evangelical Association. Notes of $5,000 each, bear- ing interest at 7 per cent, and one pay- able annually until January 1, 1905, were given by defendant, secured by a mortgage on the property. One of the conditions of the sale was that in case of breach of contract the property was to be sold at public auction. The Or- pheum Company failed to pay the sec- ond note of $5,000 due the first of the year, and has not done so, and the plain- tiff asked for an order of sale of the property at public auction, which was granted.
